

In these unprecedented times, nonprofit organizations are experiencing a variety of challenges, including shifting staffing structures, sudden changes in service delivery or capacity, and potential losses across multiple revenue streams. These changes put the financial health and resilience of nonprofits at risk as they navigate the current reality while staying mission focused. This webinar will address critical areas of focus in a time of uncertainty and provide tools that can be used in the short-term. Topics include:

- Grounding financial decision-making in your values.
- Understanding your current financial position and what resources are available.
- Levers to increase resources available for immediate response.
- Tools for cash flow for the short term.
