

Meet the 2020 Second Term Trustee Nominees

Barbara Bradbury-Pape has worked primarily in the historic house museum field and recently served as the Interpretive Planner for Connecticut Landmarks. Mrs. Bradbury-Pape is the Development Director for The Roxbury Land Trust. She previously served on the boards of The New Britain Museum of American Art, Flanders Nature Center and Land Trust, The Connecticut League of History Organizations, and the Litchfield Historical Society. Additionally, she serves as a reviewer for the Foundation's Scholarship Committee.

Elizabeth Joy Johnson is the provost at Post University. Previously, Dr. Johnson worked as a Wetland Delineator and as a Soil Conservationist for the USDA Natural Resource Conservation Association. Dr. Johnson is a former Cheshire Land Trust Board member and a current volunteer with United Way and Crew3000, a CT-based non-profit ocean conservation organization. Dr. Johnson has served on the Environment, Donor Engagement, and Cradle to Career committees at the Foundation.

Rabbi Eric Polokoff is B'nai Israel's founding rabbi, serving the congregation since 1997. He gives great attention to his roles as a speaker, pastor, teacher and community participant. He is a member of the Foundation's Pathways for Older Adults Committee and previously served on the Southbury Community Trust Fund. He also moderates the Southbury Clergy Association, is a long-time Associate National Commissioner and Connecticut Region Executive Committee member of the Anti-Defamation League, and sits on the St. Mary's Hospital and Waterbury Hospital Ethics Committees.
